Know all men by these presents that I Augustus Crumpler of the County of Southampton and State of Virginia a house holder and head of a family do release and market convey and by these presents release convey and market unto Claiborne as a homestead and property to be held and enjoyed as the property of a house holder or head of a family according to the provisions of the act of the general assembly of Virginia entitled an act to exempt from levy and sale under execution and for other purposes the following property to wit:- one horse valued at $125 one wagon valued at $50 - one cow and calf valued at $20 - all of my cotton crop valued at $250 - to wit, all that cotton made on the land I now reside including my interest as well as that belonging to my wife and family now in my possession valued at two hundred dollars, twenty five hogsheads pounds of flour valued at fifty three dollars, two sets of buggy harness valued at twenty dollars, one fowling piece valued at twenty dollars, one dozen assorted chairs valued at twenty dollars, one dozen assorted tables valued at twenty dollars, one dozen assorted bedsteads valued at twenty dollars, one dozen assorted bureaus