Complainant's Bill

AN ACT for the Relief of Loyal Citizens of the United States, for Stores or Supplies taken or furnished during the rebellion in the Insurrectionary States, for the use of the Army of the United States, and for other purposes.

That the President of the United States shall be, and he is hereby, authorized to nominate, and by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, appoint a board of commissioners, to be designated as commissioners of claims, to consist of three commissioners, who shall be commissioned for two years, and whose duty it shall be to receive, examine, and consider the justice and validity of such claims as shall be brought before them, of those citizens who remained loyal adherents to the cause and the Government of the United States during the war, for stores or supplies taken or furnished during the rebellion, for the use of the Army of the United States proclaimed as in insurrection against the United States, including the use and loss of vessels or boats while employed in the military service of the United States. And the said commissioners in considering said claims shall be satisfied from the testimony of witnesses under oath, or from other sufficient evidence which shall accompany each claim, taken under such rules and regulations as the commissioners may adopt, of the loyalty and adherence of the claimant to the cause and the Government of the United States before and at the time of the taking or furnishing of the property for which any claim shall be made, and of the quantity, quality and value of the property alleged to have been taken or furnished, and the time, place, and material circumstances of the taking or furnishing of the same. And upon satisfactory evidence of the justice and validity of any claim, the commissioners shall report their opinion in writing in each case, and shall certify the nature, amount, and value of the property taken, furnished, or used as aforesaid. And each claim which shall be considered, and rejected as unjust and invalid, shall likewise be reported, with the reasons therefor; and no claimant shall withdraw any material evidence submitted in support of any claim.

SEC. 1. And be it further enacted, That said commissioners shall each take the oath of office provided by law to be taken by all officers of the United States, and shall proceed without delay to discharge their duties under this act. The President of the United States shall designate in his appointment one of said commissioners to be president of the board, and shall be authorized to fill any vacancy which may occur by reason of death or resignation in said board; and each commissioner shall have authority to administer oaths and affirmations, and to take the depositions of witnesses in all matters pertaining to their duties. The said commissioners shall meet and organize said board, and hold their sessions at Washington. Two members of the board shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business, and the agreement of two shall decide all questions in controversy. The said commissioners shall have authority to make and publish rules for their procedure, not inconsistent with this act, and shall publish notice of their sessions. They shall keep a journal of their proceedings, to be signed by the president of the board, and a register of all claims brought before the board, showing the date of presentation, number, name and residence of claimant, subject-matter, and amount of claim, and the amount, if any, allowed; which records shall be open to the inspection of the President and Attorney General of the United States, or of such officer as the President may designate.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That said commissioners shall make report of their proceedings, and of each claim considered by them, at the commencement of each session of Congress, to the Speaker of the House of Representatives, who shall lay the same before Congress for consideration; and all claims within this act and not presented to said board shall be barred, and shall not be entertained by any Department of the Government without further authority of Congress.

SEC. 3. And be it further enacted, That the commissioners of claims shall be paid, quarterly under this act, at the rate of $5,000 per annum each, and they shall have authority to appoint one clerk and one short-hand reporter, to be paid quarterly at the rate of $2,500 per annum each, and one messenger, to be paid at the rate of $1,200 per annum, who shall perform the services required of them, respectively; and said board shall be further allowed the necessary actual expenses of office rent, furniture, fuel, stationery and printing, to be certified by the president of the board, and to be audited on vouchers, and paid as other judicial expenses are.

SEC. 4. And be it further enacted, That a sufficient appropriation to carry this act into effect is hereby made out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated.
